Library Hotel: Henry Kallan's most unique Luxury Boutique Hotel

Where Floors are Themed According to Dewey Decimal System and Guests Select Rooms Based on Topics Such as Philosophy, Erotica, Internet and Zoology

Reading Room, Poetry Garden and Cozy Writer's Den

The Library Hotel, one of New York's newest luxury boutique properties, opened on August 7, 2000 after its full conversion from a turn-of-the-century 12-story office building. The intimate 60-room hotel, located on "Library Way" at Madison Avenue and 41st Street, just steps from the majestic New York Public Library and the Pierpont Morgan Library, was designed to feel more like a private club than a hotel.

Befitting its name, each hotel floor and room is classified by a Dewey Decimal system category of knowledge:

Third floor: Social Sciences; Fourth Floor: Language; Fifth Floor: Math and Science; Sixth Floor: Technology; Seventh Floor: The Arts; Eighth Floor: Literature; Ninth Floor: History; Tenth Floor: General Knowledge; Eleventh Floor: Philosophy; and Twelfth Floor: Religion.

Each of the Library's elegantly appointed guest rooms is decorated with framed art and a library of books that relate to the room's specific Dewey Decimal theme. Guests may request a room based on personal interests. For example, guests with a passion for literature may stay on the eighth floor in the Mysteries, Fairy Tales or Erotic Literature room. The Math and Science floor offers such intriguing room themes as Astronomy and Botany. Law, Money, The Internet and Love are also among the 60 eclectic themes available on the Room Menu. The hotel is home to over 6,000 books, each title carefully picked at the Strand Bookstore, which carries the largest collection of used and rare books in NYC.

Rooms, elegantly simple and comfortable, are decorated in rich cream tones with mahogany doors and cabinetry (over one million dollars of mahogany is utilized throughout the hotel), polished granite-topped desks and orchid plants. In-room amenities and services include daily turndown service with bottled spring water and Belgian chocolate; plush bathrobes, and multiple phone lines with voice mail, data ports and complimentary high-speed WiFi internet access.

The hotel's lobby is wrapped in book-filled mahogany shelves, and the wall behind the reception desk is a floor-to-ceiling faux library card catalog. The booked-lined second-floor Reading Room is where guests enjoy complimentary refreshments -- deluxe Continental breakfast; cappuccino, coffee, teas, cookies and fruits throughout the day; and wine and cheese receptions every evening from 5-8 p.m. Patrons are welcome to invite visitors to join them here at no additional charge. The Poetry Garden, a rooftop greenhouse sitting room with a terrace, and the cozy Writer's Den, a mahogany-paneled sitting room featuring overstuffed seating with a working fireplace and its own terrace, are located on the 14th Floor. Spectacular events in this unique space can be customized for any occasion. An Executive Inspiration Board Room with oversized windows occupies the Penthouse Floor (15th floor). The hotel also provides a Business Center with computer stations and privileges at a nearby health club.

From 4 p.m. to Midnight, Monday through Saturday, the Poetry Garden and Writer's Den are transformed into a cool and sophisticated lounge open to the public called Bookmarks. The indoor portion of the lounge is adorned with stylish furnishings and features a state-of-the art entertainment system including a flat screen television and working gas fireplace. Bookmarks serves a variety of unique and tempting cocktails including The Hemingway, The Jackie Collins, and The Capote.

Branzini, the hotel's first floor Mediterranean restaurant serves lunch and dinner and provides in room dining to Library Hotel guests. The delicious seafood, pasta and warm atmosphere create an inviting environment. Diners are surrounded on two sides by folding glass doors, which allow for an outdoor cafe feel during the spring and summer.

Henry Kallan, one of New York's leading "indie" boutique hoteliers, created the Library Hotel. Henry Kallan also operates Hotel Elysée, home of the renowned Monkey Bar, the jewel-like Casablanca Hotel, and the chic art-deco Hotel Giraffe. The Library Hotel was designed by The Stephen B. Jacobs Group, P.C., architects, and Andi Pepper Interior Design. The author of the Library concept is Jordan Jacobs.

The Library rates vary widely based on availability so please check our website www.libraryhotel.com. Room configurations include single, full and queen rooms, as well as junior suites. For reservations, call 212.983.4500 or email reservations@libraryhotel.com.

Four Unique, Literary-Themed Event Spaces Now Available at The Library Hotel, NYC

The Library Hotel, certainly NYC's most clever boutique hotel where the guest rooms and suites are themed according to Dewey Decimal System classifications of knowledge (such as Philosophy, Erotica, Internet and Zoology), offers unique, literary-themed event spaces.

The Poetry Garden

Located on the 14th floor, provides a charming greenhouse sitting room outfitted in wicker with a beautiful wraparound outdoor terrace. This country-style space is ideal for cocktail receptions of up to 25 people indoors, or up to 60 people indoors/outdoors.

The Writer's Den

Guests will enjoy meeting or mingling in this cozy, mahogany-paneled sitting room with overstuffed leather chairs, a 42" flat screen television, and a gas-burning fireplace located across from the Poetry Garden. French doors lead to an outdoor terrace whose sun roof encloses the fully heated space during the winter months. This space is ideal for cocktail receptions of up to 65 guests.

The Perfect Duo

The entire 14th floor, which includes the Writers Den and the Poetry Garden connected by a stylish granite-topped bar, is suitable for cocktail receptions of up to 100 people indoors or up to 150 including both outdoor terraces.

Executive Inspiration Room

Up to 12 executives can strategize in the ultimate comfort of the hotel's 15th Floor Penthouse conference room which features a boardroom table, large chairs and over-sized windows.

Pads, pens, flip charts, built-in screen, data-ports, television, VCR and DVD, high-speed WiFi internet access are provided complimentary by the hotel. Guests are welcome to help themselves to the refreshments offered in the Library Hotel's book-lined second-floor Reading Room. There is a daily Continental breakfast buffet; international coffees, teas, cookies and fresh fruits throughout the day; and a wine and cheese reception Monday through Saturday evenings from 5 to 8 PM.
